HOW EFFECTIVE IS YOUR KS1?

Target Audience

Teachers and Leaders of KS1 - Year 1 and Year 2.

THURSDAY 23RD JANUARY 2025

4.00PM TO 5.30PM

Inset Outline

How good is the quality of teaching and learning in your Key Stage One? As a school leader or KS1 teacher, how do you know? How confident do you feel in understanding and articulating this?

It has always been important that KS1 practice offers continuity from the EYFS, providing an approach to teaching and learning which both reflects the developmental stage of the children and offers increasing challenge, enabling all pupils to make progress towards end of Key Stage expectations. Schools are required to closely examine how the whole learning journey is connected and sequenced. Therefore it is essential that you know how to best achieve this through teaching, learning and the effective use of the learning environment.

We examine what research and data tell us about the development of 5, 6 & 7-year-old children, how they learn best and how this should be reflected in practice. You will be supported to evaluate their current KS1 provision to ensure that pedagogical approaches connect meaningfully to the curriculum and that key learning behaviours underpinning academic attainment are prioritised.
