INSET Outline

This twilight session will support EYFS leaders and teachers to feel equipped to evaluate the current provision and practice in their EYFS. We will explore some key elements from curriculum research reviews for the early years and the Statutory Framework for the EYFS, considering the core principles of the EYFS and how these are translated into practice and provision. By reflecting on how young children learn and on key quality indicators, you will be supported to evaluate your EYFS, ensuring that it is connected meaningfully to the whole school curriculum, and identify next steps for strategic development.

There will also be the opportunity to gain valuable insight into the latest DfE guidance, including the latest about the Children's Wellbeing and Schools Bill 2024-25 and how it is impacting on all those working in the education sector. There continue to be multiple announcements from the Government regarding the Early Years and as the EYFS continues to evolve, leaders need to be prepared for the new statutory requirements relating to safe-guarding and staffing that will be in place from September 2025.
Unpicking the detail and impact across the different strands of the education sector can often be challenging, so join us to gain a wealth of information to keep you feeling confident in your knowledge and ahead of the latest developments in order to ensure that all children experience a high-quality education, right from the start.

Benefits:
